TITLE XXXIII—NATIONAL DEFENSE STOCKPILE

PART A—CHANGES IN STOCKPILE AMOUNTS

50 USC 98b note.

SEC. 3301. CHANGES IN STOCKPILE REQUIREMENTS

Pursuant to section 3(c)(4) of the Strategic and Critical Materials Stock Piling Act (50 U.S.C. 98b(c)(4)), the National Defense Stockpile Manager may revise quantities of materials to be stockpiled under that Act in accordance with the following table:

Material	Current quantity	Revised quantity
Aluminum oxide, abrasive grain	638 000 short tons (contained)	374 000 short tons (contained)
Antimony	36 000 short	88 500 short
Asbestos, amosite	17,000 short tons	0 short tons
Bauxite refractory	1 400 000 long calcined tons	1 240 000 long calcined tons
Bismuth	2,200,000	1 060 000
Chromite refractory grade ore	850 000 short dry tons	695 000 short tons
Columbium group	4 850 000 (contained)	12 520 000 (contained)
Diamond, industrial group	29 730 000	7 730 000
Fluorspar, acid grade	1,400,000 short tons	900 000 short tons
Fluorspar metallurgical grade	1 700 000 short tons	310 000 short tons
Graphite, natural, malagasy, crystal-
Graphite, natural, other than Ceylon	2 800 short tons	1 930 short tons
Manganese battery grade	87,000 short dry tons	50,000 short dry tons
Mica, muscovite block, stained and better
	1,500,000 pounds	0 pounds
Platinum group metals, iridium	98,000 troy	86,000 troy
Platinum group metals,	3,000,000 troy ounces	2,150,000 troy ounces
Talc steatite block and lump	28 short tons	0 short tons
Tungsten group	50,666,000 (contained)	70,900,000 (contained)

SEC. 3302. AUTHORIZED DISPOSALS

(1) AUTHORITY.—During fiscal years 1990 and 1991, the National Defense Stockpile Manager may dispose of materials in the National Defense Stockpile in accordance with this section. The value of materials disposed of may not exceed $180,000,000 during each of such fiscal years, and such disposal may be made only as specified in subsection (b).

(2) MATERIALS AUTHORIZED TO BE DISPOSED.—Any disposal under subsection (a) shall be made from quantities of materials in the National Defense Stockpile previously authorized for disposal by law or, in the case of materials in the National Defense Stockpile that 42 USC 98d note.